"I do not believe a reorganization of the general banking system will be attempted in connection with the emergency measures," he added.

Money Markets Of World Take Speedy Action

Move Quickly To Meet Bank Holiday Situation In United States

TRADING IN DOLLAR SUSPENDED FOR TIME

By HARRY K. REYNOLDS
International News Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON, Mar. 6.—The money markets of the world took speedy measures today to meet the unprecedented situation brought about by the nationwide bank holiday and gold embargo in the United States.

Official trading in the American dollar was suspended, completely in virtually all financial centers. In many cities, all foreign exchange trading was barred.

The British government set the pace by closing down against all speculative activity against the dollar. High officials gave assurance that Britain would act only "in the most friendly manner" during the crisis in the United States.

Working in close collaboration with the government, directors of the British stock and other exchanges decided to continue trading in all markets. Dealings in the foreign exchange market showed an appreciable strengthening in the pound sterling.

Dollar trading was suspended in Paris, Berlin and Tokyo, and in the latter city, as well as other Japanese centers, virtually all stock and foreign exchange dealings came to a temporary halt.

Berlin was the last European capital to cease trading in the dollar. Shortly before 2 p. m., the Reichsbank issued an order halting dollar quotations. At the time, the dollar had declined 2 points to 4.18 marks.

Private money traders in Paris expressed their opinion that the dollar would be valued at 4.20 marks.

CHICAGO, Mar. 6.—Leading the parade of hoarded money being driven from hiding places by the national bank holiday today was a rare old silver dollar dated 1804.

One of the compensations of the holiday, said Prof. Harry Guthmann, Northwestern University economist, is its effect in forcing back into circulation thousands of dollars which hoarders have accumulated.

Election On Sunday Gives Workable Majority For Hitler Bloc

NAZI DOMINATION MAY LAST YEARS

(International News Service)
BERLIN, Mar. 6.—Germany steered straight toward a Fascist dictatorship today as Chancellor Adolf Hitler's government emerged victorious in the Reichstag and Prussian State Diet elections.

In both elections, the people of the nation expressed confidence in the Nazi-Nationalist bloc now ruling the nation with an iron hand, giving the government workable majorities in each legislature.

Against all other parties, the Hitler-Von Papen-Hugenburg combine gained control of 51.8 per cent of the new Reichstag seats and 52.3 per cent of those in the Prussian Diet.

With 39,125,590 votes counted, the tabulated vote was as follows:

| | Votes | Seats |
|---------------------------------------|------------|-------|
| National Socialists | 17,300,000 | 288 |
| Nationalists | 3,100,000 | 53 |
| Socialists | 7,000,000 | 118 |
| Communists | 4,800,000 | 81 |
| Centrists and Bavarian Peoples' Party | 5,500,000 | 91 |
| Allies | 1,074,000 | 12 |
| State | 333,000 | 5 |

Thus the figures bore out the government's pre-election prophecies, and placed Germany and Prussia under Nazi-Nationalist domination for what may prove a lengthy period.

State Funeral For Sen. Walsh

Final Tribute Is Paid By Nation At Ceremony In Senate Chamber

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 6.—In the state Senate chamber, where he won international renown, the nation today paid its final tribute to Thomas J. Walsh before returning his mortal remains to the people of Montana.

The nation's tribute was offered at an impressive state funeral in the chamber where the late senator of Montana devoted 20 years to the public service. The full Catholic rites were administered by Michael Joseph Archbishop Curley of Baltimore.

President Roosevelt and his cabinet, robed justices of the Supreme court, the diplomatic corps, representatives of the army, navy and marine corps and members of the House and Senate attended.

Vice President Garner presided. The massive silver and bronze casket stood immediately in front of the dais, flanked by four huge candles.

Confidence In Pennsylvania

Leaders Move To Meet Situation Caused By Banking Holidays

SPEEDY PROGRAM TO BE ARRANGED

(International News Service)
A philosophy of confidence greeted President Roosevelt's proclamation of a nation-wide bank holiday today as Pennsylvania financial and business leaders worked out plans designed to ease the situation.

The president's proclamation was received by producer and consumer, banker and patron, with quiet calm. In every quarter, the desire to co-operate in restoring economic balance was evident.

Confidence Noted.
In Pittsburgh, the Gibraltar of finance in this Commonwealth, a strong undercurrent of confidence was noted. Leaders of Pittsburgh's banking world planned a series of meetings for today to devise plans for restricted operation during the bank holiday.

Unlike Saturday, when, despite the state-wide proclamation of Gov. Gifford Pinchot, the Pittsburgh banks transacted business as usual, the banks were closed today in observance of the national and state holiday. Employees of all institutions, however, reported for duty prepared for a possible resumption of business on a restricted basis.

Under the terms of President Roosevelt's proclamation, two immediate steps may be taken by the banks. They are:

- 1.—Issue clearing house certificates or scrip for use in settling clearing house balances and in meeting depositor demand.
 - 2.—Accept new deposits for crediting to special accounts, such deposits to be subject to immediate withdrawal without restrictions.
- While no definite form of certificate has been decided upon, bankers in several sections of the state intimated any type of certificate adopted probably would conform closely to certificates issued in New York, with modifications necessary to meet local conditions.
- Release of actual cash to depositors during the holiday was regarded as improbable, except under the new deposits and immediate withdrawal.

All Banks Obey Holiday Order

New Castle Banks Are Observing Holidays At Roosevelt's Order

BANKS ARE CLOSED FOR FOUR DAY PERIOD

Acting under the orders of the President of the United States, and only because of that order, the banks of New Castle are closed today and will be closed for the duration of the presidential edict, which is until Friday morning.

The banks here were open Saturday during business hours, despite a two day bank holiday declared by Governor Gifford Pinchot. This order was not mandatory in its provisions and the local banks were in such sound condition that they felt it was unnecessary to close.

Late Sunday night President Franklin D. Roosevelt issued an edict which covers the United States and insular possessions, which edict closes all banks, trust companies, building and loan associations and financial institutions of all kinds.

Confidence Here
The local banks are carrying out the provisions of the presidential edict. There is nothing else they can do. They were prepared to open today and will be closed only as long as the order of President Roosevelt is in effect. If the present provisions of the edict are maintained, the banks here will open for business on Friday morning.

Saturday's business here showed a justified confidence upon the part of New Castle depositors. There was nothing more than the usual business in all the banks, no unusual withdrawals, and at no time in any bank was there the slightest sign of any lack of confidence.

This display of confidence upon the part of the depositors is founded in the knowledge that every bank in New Castle has so conducted its business in past years that it is sound now and because of this soundness there is not the slightest grounds for anything but continued confidence.

PLAN EMERGENCY ACTION TO DISPOSE OF BANKING CRISIS

Air Of Confidence At Washington That Real Crisis Is Passed

PAYROLLS WILL BE PROVIDED FOR

Situation Is Accepted Philosophically In Nation At Large

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 6.—Attended by considerable confusion, but withal quietly, the country groped its way today through the first of its four banking holidays, while government officials labored unceasingly to assemble the machinery that will permit a return to business and economic normalcy.

To Meet Payrolls.

Secretary of the Treasury Woodin shortly after 11 a. m. said that some relaxation of President Roosevelt's holiday proclamation may be worked out to facilitate the meeting of payrolls.

"There probably will be some liberalization of some of the restrictions," he said. "We must conduct a campaign of hope and confidence. A great many things must be worked out. Of course, payrolls must be taken care of so that business can flow as normally as possible."

The Treasury was literally deluged today with telegrams and long distance telephone calls from bankers and business men from all parts of the country, seeking information methods of procedure in this strange financial plight in which the nation finds itself.

Secretary Woodin said he alone had had more than a thousand telegrams.

Scrip Likely Tuesday
Generally speaking, he said that by tomorrow "scrip" will be circulating in many of the larger communities of the country and it will relieve some of the strain which was felt today as business groped through a fog of uncertainty. New York, for example, is all ready to move.

"We want to get a real medium of exchange in circulation as quickly as possible," he said.

"For the most part it will be locally issued, locally backed and locally circulated."

NATION GREET'S BANK HOLIDAYS CALMLY

President Uses War-Time Power

Banking Crisis In America To Be Decisively Dealt With

TEMPORARY GOLD EMBARGO

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 6.—The nation entered quietly today upon a four-day bank holiday, extending through Thursday.

"This nation asks for action—and action now," said President Roosevelt on Saturday as he assumed the arduous duties of the presidency.

Suiting the deed to the word, the president over the week-end declared a condition of national emergency and invoked war-time powers to bring about a state of financial stability which had been upset by the sporadic closing of banks in many states.

Object of Holidays.

The object of the holiday is threefold:

1. To "freeze" the banking situation temporarily.
2. To provide and encourage, through a system of clearing house certificates, a new circulating medium.
3. To afford a respite, a breathing spell, during which the country can get its breath, while remedial legislation is being worked out for the special session of the new 73rd congress that has been called to meet Thursday noon.

Until Thursday, then, normal banking practices are at a standstill.

And until that time there is an embargo on gold shipments outside the country, and the treasury will suspend gold payments at home.

Technically, the United States is off the gold standard for four days, although authorities consider the point more technical than actual, as the country still possesses about as much gold as it ever did.

Not Off Gold Standard.

"We are not off the gold standard," said Secretary of the Treasury Woodin. "Any such interpretation is in error. The treasury is merely closed for four days."

In a proclamation establishing the four-day breathing spell, the president declared it necessary because of heavy withdrawals and hoarding. The banking holiday, however, is not absolute.

The presidential proclamation reposed in the secretary of the treasury wide discretionary authority to make exceptions, if in his judgment it would not tend to disturb the general situation.

"During such holiday," said the proclamation, "the secretary of the treasury, with the approval of the president and under such regulations as he may prescribe, is authorized and empowered to: (a) to permit any or all of such banking institutions to perform any or all of the usual banking functions, (b) to direct, require or permit the issuance of clearing house certificates or other evidences of claims against assets of banking institutions, and (c) to authorize and direct the creation in such banking institutions of special trust accounts for the receipt of new deposits which shall be subject to withdrawal on demand without restriction or limitation and shall be kept separately in cash or on deposit in federal reserve banks in obligations of the United States."

Back to War Time Plan.

President Roosevelt went back to the war-time trading-with-the-enemy act, enacted Oct. 6, 1917, for authority to establish the four-day financial breathing spell. That act conferred authority upon the executive to "regulate and prohibit transactions in foreign exchange and the export, hoarding, melting or earmarking of gold or silver coin or bullion or currency."

A series of almost continuous conferences between the president and his cabinet and legislative leaders preceded the issuance of the proclamation.

Approval of the plan was general.

"This is the start of the real thing," said Secretary of the Treasury Woodin.

Lots of Courage.

"We are at the bottom now. We are not going any lower. The American people have lots of courage and if they will only have confidence in our great leader in the White House we will be out of these troubles very soon."

Former Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills, who remained over in the capital after Saturday's inauguration, agreed with Woodin that "a very real beginning has been made."

Meanwhile, leaders of the new congress will have a busy period of conferences for the next four days, mapping out emergency legislation upon which the congress can act when it meets on Thursday. The form and content of this legislation is yet to be determined.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., Mar. 6.—Horse racing at the Agua Caliente track has been suspended indefinitely because of the banking holiday.

CLEVELAND, Mar. 6.—Scrip in the form of Cleveland Clearing House certificates was to be put into circulation here today or tomorrow.

The scrip will be backed by ample collateral to give it full value with the rule against eventually will be redeemed for cash by the Clearing House Association.

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 6.—The Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company ordered its conductors to enforce the rule against changing bills of greater than $2 denomination, as a result of the bank holiday.

Restaurants were doing a tremendous business in "coffee customers" who presented $10 or $20 bills in payment of five-cent checks.

NEW YORK, Mar. 6.—New York bankers and representatives of the Clearing House Association, cooperating with Federal Reserve authorities, were prepared today to start usage of emergency currency instead of legal tender during the present banking situation.

Clearing house scrip, in denominations from $5 to $50 is ready to be circulated as soon as the secretary of the treasury, under President Roosevelt's proclamation declaring a nation-wide bank holiday, authorizes issuance and use of the emergency currency.

Bankers were uncertain how soon authorization would be given for reopening of the banks on a scrip basis and said any indication as to possible resumption of normal bank operations must come from Washington. The stock exchange remained closed.

The nation as a whole took the holiday philosophically and good-humoredly and no disorder was reported from any quarter.

Trading in the dollar was virtually banned throughout the world. The British government set the pace by prohibiting all speculative activity against the dollar. High officials announced Britain would act "only in the most friendly manner" during the crisis in the United States.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 6.—Bank examiners throughout the country have launched a survey of banks to day for determination of the liquid assets of these institutions.

The liquid assets will determine what withdrawals may be made by depositors, upon the termination of the banking holiday, and the amount of scrip for clearing house loan certificates that may be issued against other deposits.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 6.—Safety deposit boxes were not intended to come within the scope of President Roosevelt's bank holiday, treasury officials explained today, in response to reports that banks in some cities were denying access to the boxes.

NEW YORK, March 6.—State Banking Superintendent Joseph A. Aderick today announced he did not construe President Roosevelt's banking holiday proclamation as authorizing bank officials to prevent withdrawals of funds in safety deposit boxes.

He made this announcement after he had been told the banking superintendents of some other states had denied the right of citizens to have access to safety deposit boxes.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Mar. 6.—Business proceeded as usual here today with perfection of a new credit plan by the new-born Springfield Credit Clearing committee. The new plan went into effect today.

A system of merchants and employers promissory notes has been adopted to serve as a medium of exchange during the banking holiday.

To accommodate customers, many business houses today are accepting checks drawn on Springfield banks.

CHICAGO, Mar. 6.—Three armored trucks brought a little less than $1,000,000 in small bills and coins to the temporary headquarters established by the Federal Reserve bank here today.

Forty windows, manned by expert tellers, were opened to exchange bills of large denomination for small bills and silver. Numerous signs in the large room read:

"No checks cashed."

Hoover Urges All To Support New President

NEW YORK, Mar. 6.—The nation should give "whole-hearted support" to President Roosevelt's proclamation of a bank holiday, former President Hoover declared today.

The former executive came out of seclusion at his suite in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel long enough to endorse the stand of his successor and to express regret over the death in Miami this morning of Mayor Cermak of Chicago.

Through his secretary, Lawrence Richey, Mr. Hoover issued this statement regarding the bank holiday: "The president's proclamation should receive the whole-hearted support and co-operation of every citizen."

He would not comment further and refused to discuss the details of President Roosevelt's plan.

Mr. Hoover expressed his regret at the death of Mayor Cermak, from a wound inflicted by an assassin's bullet intended for President Roosevelt, in a statement dictated to the press by Richey for the chief. It said: "He (Hoover) deplores it very much. He knows everyone will be deeply grieved about it."

Robbers Are Frightened Away Before They Can Get Anything

A son of Mrs. M. Moresky, who conducts a store at 123 West Long avenue, was awakened about 5:40 o'clock this morning by the crash of glass at the rear of the store. He was on the second floor of the building and turned on a light at the rear of the store. The robbers were frightened away, as nothing was found missing, even some money in the cash register being intact.

The robbers broke the glass in the rear door and reached in and unlocked it, but the switching on of the light frightened them away.

Kladno, Czechoslovakia, Mar. 6.—The nation went into immediate mourning for its favorite son today as newspapers flashed word of the death of Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago at Miami, Fla., victim of a bullet Giuseppe Zangara intended for President Roosevelt.

Within less than an hour after the Chicago chief executive died, extra editions of newspapers appeared on the streets here and in Prague, announcing the passing of the Kladno boy who attained fame and distinction in his adopted land.

The papers sold out quickly as thousands sought details of Cermak's death.

drawal terms of the presidential edict.

See No Difficulty.

Pennsylvania officials would be encountered in establishing restrictions on banking operations. This belief was based on the ability of a majority of the Pennsylvania banks to remain open Saturday, demonstrating a high per cent of liquidity, in the face of practically nation-wide suspension and despite Governor Pinchot's proclamation.

Meanwhile, business continued practically as usual, and stores and most large companies accepted the situation cheerfully, agreed to accept checks pending a resumption of banking activities and said scrip money, if issued, would be honored at full value.

Railroads, however, adhered to their strictly cash policy for passenger transportation, but air travel was open to hapless travelers whose cash assets were temporarily tied up in the banks. The Transcontinental & Western Air Line said checks "from substantial customers" would be accepted for both passenger and package express service.

Business To Go On.

Determined that business shall go on, the Philadelphia Clearing House Association was expected to issue scrip certificates Tuesday morning to bolster the normal medium of exchange during the bank holiday.

The certificates will be backed by deposits of collateral and issued under federal supervision.

Leading Philadelphia bankers joined in hailing President Roosevelt's proclamation as a constructive step in the present emergency.

Gen. Edward Martin, state treasurer, announced that the Commonwealth will continue to conduct "all kinds of business as far as possible" during the bank holiday.

This will include the issuance of checks for relief orders. He said no extension of present plans has been made and that if the situation continues "something will have to be worked out soon."

Gov. Gifford Pinchot was still in Washington and it could not be learned from Harrisburg whether the state emergency relief board will convene prior to its regularly scheduled session of Wednesday.

The Sordani emergency banking bill is expected to be passed finally by the state senate tonight and sent to the house. The lower branch can refer it to the governor this week.

The bill provides the statutory support for the resolution passed last Monday night, when Pennsylvania banks were authorized to restrict withdrawals on old accounts and accept new deposits for withdrawal in full on demand.

Harrisburg banks will not be opened for any business transactions in observance of the holiday, officials announced.

In order to prevent fluctuations, the London bullion market fixed a definite price for gold at 119 shillings, 7 pence to the ounce. This was 1 penny (two cents) lower than Friday's quotation.

Paris, Mar. 6.—Americans in Paris took news of the United States banking holiday philosophically today, and few citizens of the United States even set foot in American banks when they opened.

One French financier remarked that the Americans seemed to be "calmly resigned."

American checks were accepted for collection, and in one bank known persons were receiving 24 francs on the dollar, subject to later adjustment.

There were no official trading quotations on the dollar.

Tokyo, Mar. 6.—Announcing resumption would depend on developments in the United States, Japanese banks today suspended foreign exchange operations.

The Tokyo, Osaka and Nagoya stock exchanges were closed down with the exception of limited dealings in government bonds.

Silk exchanges and other commodity markets likewise shut down.

Milan, Italy, Mar. 6.—Following proclamation of the banking holiday throughout the United States, the American dollar fell to 18 lire on the Milan, Turin and Genoa exchanges today.

Liverpool, Eng., Mar. 6.—The Liverpool cotton exchange will remain open despite the banking situation in the United States, directors of the exchange decided at a meeting today.

Vienna, Mar. 6.—President Roosevelt's declaration of a banking holiday had an immediate effect today when the dollar declined 10 percent in private trading.

Havana, Mar. 6.—All Cuban banks will be closed under a three-day bank holiday today, tomorrow and Wednesday, according to a decree issued by President Gerardo Machado.

The decree was promulgated when the banking situation in the United States precipitated withdrawals of cash from banks here.

A meeting of much interest and importance to citizens of Lawrence county and vicinity will be held in Beaver Falls, Pa., at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening, March 8.

It will be a meeting of the Beaver River Waterways Improvement association for the purpose of giving further impetus to the Beaver Canal project.

This has been receiving much attention for a number of years and this year's instigators of the project have reason to believe that the plan may be pushed through.

At a recent meeting the above association was organized with James P. Leaf of Rochester, who for many years has been an active worker for the Ohio River and Lake Erie Canal, president. M. A. Riley of Ellwood City is one of the vice-presidents and G. H. Morrison also of this city is treasurer. David C. Locke of Monaca is secretary.

At this meeting resolutions were passed asking the support of senators and congressmen from Pennsylvania and Ohio for the project. This of course means making the river in the Beaver valley navigable. This is a citizens association organized for the purpose of assisting other organized efforts such as New Castle and Youngstown Chamber of Commerce.

ROOSEVELT'S CALL FOR ACTION

MILLIONS of Americans will agree with the tenor of the inaugural address of Franklin D. Roosevelt, at Washington, on Saturday afternoon, after he took the oath of office as the 32nd president of the United States—that the time for talk has passed, and that it is time for action that will be definite and effective.

What the new president had to say was conspicuous for its brevity and general character. There were no definite recommendations, but that was apparently the intention of the president, who speedily called congress into special session this week, when he will undoubtedly go into details regarding the reforms he has in mind for curing the present business and financial crisis.

This idea is encouraged by his statement that the way to recovery is not to be found in talking, but in action. He declares that there are many ways in which conditions can be helped, but he adds, "We must act, and act quickly."

That he feels strongly concerning existing banking difficulties is shown by his emphatic words on this point. "In our progress toward a resumption of work we require two safeguards against a return of the evils of the old order; there must be a strict supervision of all banking and credits and investments; there must be an end to speculation with other people's money, and there must be provisions for an adequate but sound currency."

There is every reason for hopefulness in this statement of the case. The president is fully aware of the difficulties in the task ahead of him, but he shows no trace of doubt about his ability to overcome them. He says the normal balance of executive and legislative authority may be wholly adequate to meet the unprecedented situation, but that it may call for temporary departure from normal and established methods.

He will recommend measures to congress to restore a stricken nation to health. What if that fails?

Then he has something in reserve. Note these significant words:

"In the event that the national emergency is still critical, I shall not evade the clear course of duty that will then confront me. I shall ask the congress for the one remaining instrument to meet the crisis—broad executive power to wage a war against the emergency, as great as the power that would be given to me if we were in fact invaded by a foreign foe."

All in all, the short inaugural address will undoubtedly have the effect of inspiring confidence in the American people.

The president realizes our difficulties and he is prepared to make specific recommendations to the congress. And he has no doubt of the result.

If this feeling be diffused generally among the people the atmosphere of fearfulness will soon be changed to one of real hopefulness.

THE ANNUAL AUDIT

Human nature is admittedly prone to procrastination. The best of intentions are likely to be overtaken by a last-minute emergency like that which now faces so many who might just as well have signed, sealed and delivered their income-tax declaration while the year was young.

About a week of grace remains for this painful duty of citizenship. For better or worse, the government needs to know last year's story of profit and loss, of money made and spent, of earned and unearned increment and all deductions and exemptions which qualify the totals.

When the income tax was a novelty, the difficulties of declaration were greater than they are today. The average citizen is now fairly familiar with the financial formulas by which the tax is to be computed. If in doubt, he may consult a variety of financial experts who know at sight the difference between income from a fiduciary and the profits from a successful escape from the stock market. It is possible of course, to postpone the annual audit and confessional until March 15 and still be within the law. But it would be much more sensible to attend to it at once and escape the last-minute congestion at the banks and internal revenue offices which has become a familiar phenomenon of mid-March.

SOMETIMES A NUISANCE, SOMETIMES A PERIL

One of the things usually expected of a new president is opposition to customs that add needlessly to the burdens, and even the perils, of his office. Mr. Roosevelt has already refused on two occasions to gratify camera men by posing for them. While he can not very well refuse to be photographed on fit occasions, it may be doubted if the public would disapprove seriously if he limited the number of his appearances.

If appearing before the camera may sometimes be a nuisance, indiscriminate handshaking is likely to be peril. The custom is so long established that to break it would not be easy. The first Roosevelt missed a great opportunity to free himself from miscellaneous visitors. Will the second risk a little temporary unpopularity for the sake of a desirable interference with tradition?

The tax on cosmetics ought to put a different complexion on the situation.

Babe Ruth's salary could be cut several times and still be handsomer than the Babe.

Republicans are ungrateful. There isn't a single bronze statue of old General Hokus.

Normal times are when you lose $50 in your berth and the porter doesn't think it a tip.

Free Country: One in which 100 people have 100 different ideas of what constitutes wickedness.

It's awful to think how many Americans lose their money at those wicked European gambling places when they might go to Hot Springs or Reno.

"LITTLE PEDRO"
I don't play the game, but many a time in various places I have stood and watched other men playing Pedro.

And out of my watching I noticed that some of the cards, as in all card games, are more powerful than the others. An ace will take a king. A six is higher than a five. Any trump will take any card on an off-suit. . . . But there's one little card that can't be taken from you. If you hold it in your hand, it's yours. Even an ace of trumps can't take it. It counts for you. It's the two of trumps, the Little Pedro. . . . Your opponent leads the ace of spades, and spades are trumps—and your little two of spades falls on the trick. But it doesn't belong to him. It falls, but you take it back, and you count one point for your side. I don't know why this is a rule in the game of Pedro, but I know it's there and that the players obey it, and for any woman—who remembers to be taken from the man who holds it. . . . That will always be so unless they change the rules, and I do not think they will.

It's not only in a game of cards that the Little Pedro is found. You will find that rule is even more fixed and unalterable in the game of living.

Although you steal from me, I shall not admit that what you take is yours.

Although you are stronger, I need not confess that you are wiser.

Although you order me to believe, I need not believe.

Although you think for me, still I must think for myself.

Although you insist, argue, demand and threaten, you can do nothing with me unless my will consents.

I hold the Little Pedro of my own faith, my own knowledge, my own determination.

And so it is for any child, for any man, for any woman—who remembers that the Little Pedro in the deck of life can never be taken away.

TABLE MANNERS
How about it, old man, don't you often cause embarrassment to members of your family by your violations of what is considered good table manners?

"All tummy rot," you say.

You can't see what difference it makes whether you dip your soup toward you or from you, or why you should be particular to take it from the side of your spoon.

Why should anyone object if you do rest your left forearm on the table?

You like to lean way over your plate, duck your head as you take a bite and why should anyone criticize you for it.

Taking hold of your knife or fork down near the blade or the tines should not cause others to censure, you think.

Sticking your fork into a piece of meat as if it were a pitchfork and holding it so while you cut the food is another of your pet positions.

Resting the blade of your knife on the edge of your plate and the handle on the table cloth seems to you an easy way to take care of it.

All these are little things, but if you do them your family may blush for you, when guests are present.

If you were kind and thoughtful, you'd save them that embarrassment.

THE POOR MAN
Not poor is he who lacking gold

Still has the courage to press on

Even against the winter's cold

And never cries that hope is gone.

Not poor that man though penniless
Who stands up to the odds of fate

And sees in danger and distress

The struggle that may make him great.

Not poor that spirit which can find
The strength to cope with doubt and care

And never give his heart and mind
To failure and to bleak despair.

Only that man is poor who sees
His fortune swept away, and then
Greets failure like some dread disease

And has no heart to fight again.

Six-day bicycle riders should be a friend of friends. Sometimes they go around together for a week at a time.

Indiana's state legislature has a bill before it, passed by the Senate, which would declare a moratorium on elections for one year, and every-one now in office, would hold office for another year. This will save the state $300,000, to say nothing of the money which would be spent by those running for office.

A neighbor came running over to a friend's house on the North Hill at 11:30 the other evening and wanted to know which one of the girls in the family was sick. She saw a light burning in the girls' bedroom and was sure something was the matter when they went to bed that early.

Mrs. Roosevelt, the president's wife, has selected her entire wardrobe of blue, it is stated. She must not be so optimistic over the outcome as her husband, the president.

It's not so very long ago that the League of Nations declared peace in the orient. The only thing that appears to have been wrong with the League's declaration was that nobody was just ready to fight at the time.

New York's rough and ready policemen are being replaced, by more scholarly gentlemen, it is claimed. Imagine being hailed over to the curb with an inquiry such as this: "Where is the conflagration to which you are bound at such an accelerated pace?"

"Ah, it's a small universe, after all," moralized Chief Assomomer James Robertson of the U. S. Naval Observatory, apropos Prof. Joel Stebbins' report for the Carnegie Institution, to the National Academy of Science, that the diameter of the stellar system is only 600,000,000,000,000 miles, compared to the 1,500,000,000,000,000 miles previously calculated. Beyond that lies what?

Governor Pinchot says the legislators have been laying down on the job. He also talks about useless job holders and high salaries, but he hasn't noticed where he has done anything further than to appeal to all the well known prejudices of the human race in an effort to boost his own popularity.

JOE BULGER IGNORES MR. FIDDLEBOTTOM
Private Office of Joe Bulger, Headwaters of Salt Creek, Penna. March 4, 1935.

Fred Rantz News Company
As regards your special delivery letter where you say what is my reactions as regards your paper March 2 which publishes a large assortment of high brow & intricate grammar from that new star in the firmament which signs himself Ambrosia J. Falsebottom and whose essays stamp him to be the same.

On account I been very busy lately making some experiments as regards tamarack roots etcetera which same could be used in my business if the new government pans out all right I ain't had no time to study out what Ambrosia J. Falsebottom means by all those bios on his escutcheon. So I took the same to Prof. C. C. Green which is the general manager of the expensive New Castle School system and which by nature is accustomed to using obsolete obscure & unnecessary grammar of the kind which Ambrosia J. is making a bluff of understanding. I says what do you make of it Doc?

Well Joe he says after pursuing the thing through from alpha to omega & from dan to bersheba I give you my candid opinion that the whole thing impresses me as being mainly hyperbolic in its nature. It looks to me very much like an appeal to mass mob sentiment. You know Joe he says that when a man stops being an individualist and begins to appeal to mob psychology he not only disappoints his friends but he is really admitting to himself that he is slipping. He is in a bad way.

That's all right with me Doc I says I will take your word for the same & I hope Fred will understand your explanation of the essay of Ambrosia J. because I don't follow it myself. Anyway Fred I had Doc Green write out all the above involved grammar on account I can't spell all the same myself.

As regards the letter of Ambrosia where he says that my letter February 28 is not german and indicates a suspicion of arrested development I will ask you Fred if you find anywhere in my letter where I said anything about Ambrosia ever being arrested. No matter what I might know about anybody which would make him blush to have the same told to his wife I would be the last to mention the same publicly. So I ain't saying anything even now about Ambrosia J. ever being arrested or being in jail although many much worse things could be said even in jest. Except in this regard I say let the confession of Ambrosia J. Filterbottom speak for himself.

As regards where he says some remarks about Pluto & Aristophanes & Aristotle etcetera all I got to say is that I am attending all the party conventions for the last 60 years & I never met any of them so I don't see that it matters what they say on account nobody knows them.

So long
JOE BULGER.

Here's hoping the March winds will be strong enough to blow the depression entirely away.

To make a long story short, the editor uses a big blue pencil.

Up in Boston, a barber is serving tea to all his customers. We don't recommend this to New Castle barbers, however. Most New Castle men we know would want something a little stronger than that.

It is claimed that the Decatur, Ill. Herald and Review recently published the names of everyone holding a government job in that city and that the list covered five pages. One wouldn't think there would be that many in New Castle, but there probably would.

Chinese and Manchurian names might look funny to us, but just imagine an oriental trying to twist his tongue around Mishawaka, Mauch Chunk, or Punsutawney.

According to Senator Fess money will flow freely as soon as business revives. You don't have to be a senator to know that much.

Everybody is wondering if Roosevelt will measure up to the great responsibilities he is assuming. He sure has a chance to fulfill his election promises of a new deal.

When you're so far down in the dumps that your ears flop and your jaw drops until the corners of your mouth look like an inverted quarter moon, there's nothing that will bring you back to life like a hearty laugh. We know a man in this town whose laugh starts everybody laughing within hearing. It's a trigger laugh, come on like a flash, starts with a merry chuckle, swells like the crescendo notes of a symphony orchestra, and ends in a medley with associates. After it's all over your gloom has gone out the soles of your shoes and you feel like a million dollars. When you're glum, try a laugh. If you don't have anything to laugh at look in the mirror.

Some one has dug up an old sale bill of 1850 at Harriessburg, Ky., which contains the item, "Family spirits for one year, consisting of 25 gallons of whiskey in jugs, 50 gallons of whiskey in barrel and 100 gallons of applejack in barrel. Thus it will be seen how people kept up their spirits in those days.

They're parking cars so close to the Greer building on Sycamore street, that when two people meet on the sidewalk they have to go through each other to pass.

Spring will soon be here and with it the annual discussions about daylight saving. So far as we have been able to see nobody can show anything for the time they have saved in the past. However that won't interfere with the annual talkfest.

The big trouble about life is that many men do not learn about some things until it is too late to put them to use.

Cheer up, we'll only have to dig down in our jeans for another half million dollars to straighten up the railroads, highways and other loose ends about Pymatuning dam.

An exchange brings this word of consolation. Christopher didn't know where he was going when he started. When he got there he didn't know where he was, and when he got back he didn't know where he had been. We're all in that boat now.

A vagrant is a person who would be a tourist if he asked for gasoline.

When a man gets sick he goes to a doctor to find out what's the matter, but when Uncle Sam gets sick, everybody knows what's the matter. Some say he has stagnation of the mazzuma; others that he's overtaxed his Vox Populi; but whatever his ailment, the street corner specialists all agree that a good dose of job herbs would put him back on his feet.

And now it has been found that talking postage rates from two cents to three cents has resulted in less revenue. As soon as the new rate was made people started out to beat it, either by writing on postal cards or, as in the case of some big institutions, delivering their own mail. Thus it will be seen that there is really something in the old saying about killing the goose that lays the golden egg.

An old Negro was taking an examination for the position of rural mail carrier. One of the questions asked was "How far is it from the earth to the sun?"

The old darkey looked frightened and exclaimed, "Ef you'll be swifter put me on that route, Ize resignin' before I begins."

Contractors on government buildings in Washington ordered a reduction of $3 a day from the $11 wage being paid and the workmen threatened a strike. We'll bet there are a lot of carpenters in New Castle who only wish they could go to work at $8 per day.

Three Japanese students have arrived in this country as "ambassadors of good will," we are told. And on the other hand, they may have come here to avoid being drafted into military service, too!

Up in Argyle, Mich., folks who own autos but are unable to pay license fees, are hitching horses to the cars for Sunday drives and to go to town in.

"The jig is up," exclaimed the Indians, as Columbus landed. We are discovered at last!

Glass Bill Gets New Support After Mitchell Disclosures

Resignation of New York Bank Executive Approved By Country And Federal Investigation Of Boom Period Declared Desirable

Testimony by Charles E. Mitchell, former chairman of the National City Bank of New York, before the Senate Banking Committee, covering transactions preceding the stock-market break, arouses sharp comment. Mr. Mitchell's resignation is held to be beneficial, and the disclosures at the Congressional hearing are appraised as an argument in favor of the provisions of the Glass banking bill.

"The resignation of Mr. Mitchell," according to the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS, "should have the effect of checking any unfavorable reactions in the financial world." That paper, however, advises that his former bank "is far too great an institution to be judged by the personality of a single official. The SPOKANE SPOKESMAN-REVIEW suggests that he "convinced the committee on some interesting smart practices," and adds: "Under persistent questioning, he told the committee about his rich bonus pickings of $3,500,000 in the three years of the market boom, 1927-29, the bonuses coming from the National City bank and its security affiliate, the National City company. The country sees now how it operated. The greater the volume of securities unloaded on the investing public, the greater the bonuses enjoyed by Mr. Mitchell and his associates. * There will be general concurrence in Senator Couzens' conclusion that it's desirable that the public should know what inspired some of these sales and some of the securities being foisted upon the public. It has been detrimental to the public interest."

"Senator Glass, a very high-minded man," declares the BALTIMORE SUN, "evidently has some doubt whether all of the conditions which governed that issue of the past were of the most high-minded character. And the Senator is not only high-minded; he is hard-headed. Moreover, he enjoys the prestige in this matter of having been a critic and a prophet long before the crash of 1929. On the face of things, it looks as though there is much in this business of the public protection, should be made public property." The Sun also voices the judgment: "The disclosures made by Mr. Mitchell and other officials of the bank and its affiliate, the National City company, have distressed the country. If some of the practices disclosed are not in violation of the law, then so much the worse for the respect in which law should be held. The country would like the practices and the law to be examined jointly. Also, the country, we think, would like the fullest investigation of the circumstances that surround the pison-holing of the opinion given twenty years ago in the Taft administration by Solicitor General Lehman, in which the affiliation of the National City Bank and the National City Company was condemned as illegal and contrary to public policy."

"The real conclusion is," according to the ST. LOUIS STAR-TIMES, "that Mr. Mitchell and others showed that their ethics, their leadership, their vision has been so warped that in three years of national travail it has offered the country absolutely nothing toward recovery." That paper concludes: "We talk of imitating the British or Canadian banking system. It is not the British or Canadian Bank system, but British and Canadian banking ethics, that prevent failures in England and Canada. We need to remodel American banks and American business, but far more than that we need to remodel American bankers and business men."

"The reassuring factor," in the opinion of the LINCOLN STATE JOURNAL, "is that there is nothing to indicate that the stability of banks has been impaired. Senator Wheeler points to strict enforcement of the laws as the way to the establishment of confidence and the maintenance of such confidence. The Senator is probably right. If the laws are carefully enforced, the repetition of such situations will be avoided. The laws amply protect. All that has to be done is to enforce them. The whole thing seems to hinge on the matter of law enforcement. There is no apparent lack of laws covering this situation. Ably enforced, these laws give the people the protection needed."

Indorsement of the Glass measure as a means of gaining a higher degree of efficiency is given by the SPRINGFIELD (Mass.) REPUBLICAN, with assurance that "the practices now being properly challenged went out with the 'new era,' and are no longer indulged in." Similar indorsement to the legislation is voiced by the JERSEY CITY JOURNAL. The CHARLOTTE OBSERVER believes that "the Federal government owes it to the people not to stop with a mere uncovering of pernicious practices." The ASBURY PARK EVENING PRESS advises: "What we need is not a new system but a new standard of conduct."

The ALTOONA MIRROR feels that "it would have been surprising if the bank chairman had not resigned," and the CHARLESTON (S. C.) EVENING POST calls the series of revelations "an amazing record." The SCRANTON TIMES finds that the disclosures "aroused the whole nation."

JUST TOO MUCH
"Where have you been for the past week?"
"Oh, I moved."

"Moved?"
"Yes, Landady asked too much for the rent."

"How much did you have to pay?"
"Three dollars a week."

"And how much is the new place?"
"Five dollars a week."

"But I thought you just said your old landady asked too much for the rent."

"She did—four or five times a day."

A motorist rattled into a garage in a very old car, and the following conversation took place.

Garage man—I'll have to ask you for a five spot in advance.

Motorist—A five spot in advance! But I'll come for the car in the morning.

Garage man—Ah, that's just it. Will you come?

"Go West, young man!" If you wish to hear some choice "Baron Munchausen" stories, they can tell some good ones in the Rockies.

A party of yarn spinners were sitting around the bunkhouse swapping lies. "When I was young up in Montana," said one, "I saw a mountain lion come right up to the tent one day. It was a fierce beast, but with great presence of mind, I threw a bucket of water ' ' its face and it slunk away."

"Boys," said a man sitting in the corner. "I can vouch for the truth of that story. A few minutes after that happened I was coming down the side of the hill. I met this lion and it was habing stopped to stroke its whiskers. Boys, those whiskers were wet."

Hoover's Stop In New York

Former President Will Settle Few Business Matters, Stays In Hotel

PLANNING TRIP TO CALIFORNIA

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoover left the Capital at 1:45 p. m. Saturday as plain citizens.

Several thousands persons were gathered at Union station and they gave the retiring president and former first lady a tremendous reception when they drove up direct from the inaugural ceremony of President Roosevelt.

The entire Hoover cabinet and their wives were up in front of the crowd and each shook hands with Mr. and Mrs. Hoover.

The president said nothing but acknowledged the reception by waving his hand and smiling as he stood beside his wife on the train's observation platform.

The last man to climb aboard the platform and shake Hoover's hand was Francis Robinson, the veteran White House chauffeur who drove the Hoover car.

The Hoovers left the train in New York City where they will stay in a hotel a few days to permit Hoover to attend to some personal business. When this is done Hoover will sail for California and a trip through the Panama Canal. He had originally planned to go aboard a boat which sailed from New York's port Saturday. Now he hopes to take the next boat sailing for the west coast.

STUDENT CABINET MEETS

The Student Cabinet held its regular meeting Monday morning at 8:30 in the music room with nearly all members present. The amendment which provides for the election of new members from the Senior high school at the beginning of the first semester of the school year, and for Junior high school members at the beginning of the second semester, was presented and approved. The amendment will make it possible to retain at least a few of the experienced members each semester so that a "green" executive body will never be in control. Their plan was voted on by the student body on Friday morning.

At the next meeting of the Cabinet definite plans are to be presented by the school beautiful committee.

The main speaker for the afternoon was Mrs. R. Frederick Roberts, a woman who has traveled extensively in France and throughout Europe. Mrs. Roberts gave an excellent talk, illustrated costumes and buildings with dolls and paintings, and made France vitally interesting not only to the students of French but to the whole assembly.

DANCING ON GLASS

ILLUSION:

In India, the fakirs present a spectacle to tourists. Two lovely performers break bottles and lamp chimneys before the eyes of the audience, and throw the jagged pieces into a box already filled with broken glass. They step barefooted into the box and do an Oriental dance in the glass without injury.

EXPLANATION:

The performers toughen their feet in a strong solution of alum water and thoroughly rub them with pulverized resin before they appear. They throw the freshly broken glass around the edges of the platform. The glass on which they actually do dance is very thick, heavy, and filed or ground so that the sharp edges are rounded off. The girls just pretend to dance on the sharp glass.

Butler Trounces Merchant Quint

Ellwood Team Drops 41-29 Verdict At Butler Saturday Evening

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 6.—Dave "Red" Parker's scrappy Penn-Drake Oilers advanced a step nearer the second half championship in the Penn-Ohio League by trouncing the Ellwood Merchants at Butler on Saturday night by a 41 to 29 score.

The Penn-Drakes hopped off to an early lead through the combined efforts of Jiles and Salem and held the upper hand at the end of the initial period, 12-7, and again at the halfway mark, 21-16. The Ruskovic tossers were ahead at only one stage of the battle and the resumption of hostilities, as they proceeded to annex six points before their rivals could get started, and as a result enjoyed a 23-21 advantage.

At the three-quarter mark the count was 32 to 22, the proteges of John (Chris) Ruskovic having followed their big drive into the lead early in the period. The Butler five outscored their visitors, 9 to 7, in the closing stanza.

ing medium will be clearing house certificates.

Different regulations in the various clearing house districts will prevent its being uniform, but there will be some conformity in the general scheme.

Meanwhile the legislators on Capitol Hill were preparing emergency legislation to take effect at the expiration of the banking holiday next Friday.

Emergency Action
Senator Joe T. Robinson, Democratic leader of the Senate, announced that the administration would propose immediate enactment of an emergency banking law authorizing the use of the clearing house certificates, segregating new deposits from old and insuring their retention in cash or government securities. Thus all new accounts will remain 100 per cent liquid in the banks.

This is not the time, Robinson said, to attempt a general overhaul of the banking structure. That, he thought, could await a quieter period.

Reports from all over the country indicated that while bankers and business men were greatly confused as to what they could and could not do under the terms of the presidential proclamation, the public generally accepted the situation cheerfully and carried on as best they could.

Can Make Change
In some places banks refused to permit access to safety deposit boxes. The result in the Treasury's announcing that the deposit boxes did not come within the terms of the ban.

Clearing house districts were authorized to set up change windows to break down bills of large denominations and thus facilitate trade as much as possible.

Throughout the country, according to reports to the Treasury, merchants were generally carrying on and inviting the use of charge accounts to keep goods moving.

The United States Treasury limited its operations to the cashing of government checks and the making of change. No gold was given on the checks or in change.

Constant Conferences
Secretary Woodin was engaged in almost constant conferences at the Treasury. His predecessor, Ogden L. Rogers, remained over in Washington to cooperate.

The point which Woodin emphasized was that payrolls must and will be met.

"They will be met," he said, "in cash, scrip or clearing house certificates, but they will be met."

While impressed with the difficulties of the situation, there was an unmistakable air of confidence and almost of optimism among officials of the new administration generally and congressmen here for Thursday's special session.

There was a general feeling that, as Woodin expressed it, "the low point has been reached, the crisis has been met, and from now on the direction is forward."

Public Service Companies Take Checks For Bills

Public service companies in New Castle are accepting checks for the payment of electric light, water, gas and telephone bills today and will continue to do so during the duration of the bank holiday ordered by President Roosevelt.

While it was felt that this would be their policy, each company was asked today what their attitude would be. The answer, practically the same in every case, was this: "We are accepting checks from our subscribers for the payment of bills due and will continue to do so just as usual."

Merchants for the most part are accepting checks also from customers they know are good. Quite naturally they could not be expected to accept a check from a total stranger, unless he can identify himself and show that the check is good.

For the most part the people of New Castle have accepted the president's crisis in the finest kind of a way. There seems to be a feeling that this bold stroke of President Roosevelt was the thing necessary to be done in order to restore confidence and rehabilitate confidence in banks in those states where confidence has been impaired, chiefly in the middle west.

While there may be some slight inconvenience, people here are prepared to accept them in an uncomplaining mood and in a great many cases in a rather jovial mood. "It's all the best" seems to be the feeling and the fact that it is only for four days assures them of a resumption of financial transactions on Friday.

Democrats Will Try To Fulfill Campaign Pledge

Ponderous Machinery Of Congress Being Geared
Into Action Today

BANKING CRISIS WILL COME FIRST

Expect Special Session Of Congress To Take Up
Modification Measures

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Mar. 6.—The ponderous machinery of Congress was being geared today for swift action in carrying out the mandate and program of the Democratic national platform.

While legislation proposed by President Roosevelt to meet the banking crisis will come first of all in the special session, Democratic leaders have not lost sight of the long-range program they promised the nation.

Enactment of a beer bill within a short time after the special session gets down to program business was promised by Democratic leaders.

Pledged To Modify
The Senate is wet, the House overwhelmingly so. A majority of both bodies is pledged to modification legislation.

Experts representing all beer interests are known to be at work rewriting the beer legislation so it can be put through both houses of Congress in record time.

The other program measures include:
A huge bond issue for public works
to employ men.
Enactment of the domestic allotment plan of farm relief, which passed the House and was held up in the Senate.

Banking legislation, part of which may be considered emergency and part of permanent character.
Bills authorizing the president to negotiate tariff treaties, and revision of the tariff commission's powers.

Enactment of a bill for government operation of the $120,000,000
Muscle Shoals project.
Balancing of the budget by additional taxation and extreme economy.

Two appropriation bills were left for the new Congress to act on the billion dollar independent offices measure and the District of Columbia appropriation bill.

Turns In False Alarm; Pays Fine

Claims Some One Told Him
There Was A Fire And
To Pull The Box

Zigmund Garzewski, aged 23, of 1704 Hanna street, was arrested at his home early Sunday morning, after turning in two false alarm from box 58, according to the police.
The first alarm was turned in at 2:30 a. m. Sunday. The firemen answered and finding no fire returned to their headquarters. They had no sooner returned there than they were called upon to answer a second alarm.

The firemen were informed by people of the district that they had seen Zigmund Garzewski turn in the alarm. The police were notified and arrested him as he was in the act of going to bed.

He is a baker in a local bakery and was under the influence of liquor, the police say. He admitted turning in the alarms but claimed that somebody had told him there was a fire and told him to turn in both alarms.
He was assessed a fine of $10 by

State Will Issue Checks To Grocers

Relief Food Orders To Continue During Period Of Bank Holidays

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Mar. 6.—Pennsylvania's government will cash food orders during the bank holiday,
Gen. Edward Martin, state treasurer, said today.

The state's interpretation of "cashing" the orders, however, is merely the issuance of checks to the grocers.

"Like the individual," said Martin, "the commonwealth will not have cash to give out while the banks are closed. We will continue to issue checks and conduct all kinds of business as far as possible."

General Martin explained that as conditions stand now the problem of turning the checks into cash will be up to those who submit the food orders and receive the commonwealth's checks in return. He said he understood the president's proclamation could be interpreted liberally by the individual bank. The treasurer added, however, that if the holiday is prolonged "something will have to be worked out soon."

The regular meeting of the state emergency relief board is not scheduled until Wednesday.

Roosevelt Asks For Support Of Every Citizen

President Roosevelt Invites Support Of All Who Know
Meaning Of Sacrifice

TALKS TO LEGION
FROM WHITE HOUSE

Calls Upon People Of Country To Fight Just As Soldiers Did In World War

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 6.—Speaking to the nation from the White House, in his first radio address since his induction as chief executive, President Roosevelt last night invited the support "of all men and women who love their country, who know the meaning of sacrifice, and who, in every emergency, have given splendid and generous service to the nation."

Mr. Roosevelt spoke on an American Legion program with Louis A.
Johnson, of West Virginia, national commander of the Legion.
He said in part:
"I am glad that this, the first word addressed by me to the people of this country from the White House, can be dedicated to the great ideals of sacrifice and service."

Must Sacrifice
"The men of the ranks of the Legion, in the trying days of 15 years ago, offered for the welfare and preservation of country the ultimate contribution that a human being can give."

"The deep necessities of peace are no less serious. It is a mistake to assume that the virtues of war differ essentially from the virtues of peace."
"To the end that the efforts I am giving in these first days of my administration may be crowned with success and that we may achieve a lasting restoration of national welfare, I invite the support of the men of the Legion and men and women who love their country."

Confirmation Is Given Cabinet By New Senate

Senate Does Not Waste Any Time Confirming Roosevelt's Working Cabinet

NEW PRECEDENT IS ESTABLISHED

(International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 6.—Setting a precedent for speed in getting approval of cabinet President Franklin Delano Roosevelt had his cabinet members confirmed by the senate early Saturday afternoon not two hours after his inauguration as the new chief executive of the land. The new senate had only taken office a few hours previous.

When the nominations reached the senate, Senator Robinson, the Democratic floor leader, asked for their immediate confirmation. He announced that everybody knew "the necessity for the new president having the advice and assistance of his cabinet immediately." He explained that the Hoover cabinet members were leaving Washington and most of them had been turned out of office automatically at noon Saturday.

"Property Checks" To Help Business

Ohio Town Will Help Relief Situation By Giving Employment

MARTINS PERRY, O., Mar. 6.—This city will issue "prosperity checks," or scrips. Recently the city was allotted $4,000 as part of its share of a special utility tax.

Officials realized that if current bills were met no funds would be available for the relief of the community's jobless and accordingly assistance of all civic organizations of the town was sought. "Prosperity checks" were decided upon as the most satisfactory answer to the problem.

The plan is this: the city will issue approximately 3,000 checks, each bearing a face value of $1 and being backed by an equal amount on deposit in three banks. The city's creditors have agreed to accept payment of their claims in these checks. The recipient cannot immediately take the check to a bank to be cashed, but must pass it on, first affixing an improvised three-cent stamp, which must be purchased from the city, and then endorsing the stamp. When 15 stamps have been placed on the check, it is redeemable at any of the three banks for $1.

Thus with each check the city has discharged a debt to the extent of $1.50 business places have benefited by a dollar exchange, less the cost of the stamp, and the city has added 45 cents to a relief fund through the sale of 15 stamps on each check.

Rose Avenue School Scene Of Robbery

Discovery Of Some Of The Loot In A Vacant Field Leads To Discovery

Rose avenue public school was the scene of a robbery over the week end. The stolen articles recovered, were found by a young man, who came upon the loot in a vacant field about four hundred feet from the school.

His find was reported to the police shortly after he found the articles consisting of pencils, clips, erasers, pads, a volley ball and other items used in a school.

They found that apparently the school had been broken into some time after school closed last Friday afternoon. A window on the south side of the building had been broken in gaining entrance and the thieves had broken into and ransacked the offices of the principal and other teachers of the building in a search for something of value.

It was part of the loot that had been taken, that was found abandoned in the field but a short distance from the school and led to the early discovery of the fact that there had been a robbery.

Police Hear Of Two Automobile Accidents On Streets Of The City

James J. Horean of 210 Hilcrest avenue was driving east on Neshannock avenue Saturday, in front of 478 Neshannock avenue as a car bearing Pennsylvania license Y3312, also driving east in front of his car, made a left-hand turn, which caused his machine to bump into and collide with the other machine. Both were damaged.

Mrs. Horean and Mrs. C. C. Williams and child, of 376 Neshannock avenue, were in the Horean car at the time, and Mrs. Williams had her neck injured in the crash.

Joseph Lalama of 512 Martin street was driving the machine of Dominick Sylvester, 1109 Croton avenue, east on Croton avenue, in front of the latter's home on Sunday as a car bearing Pennsylvania license 3391N was en route in the same direction and following his car.

Mr. Lalama went to make a left-hand turn, bringing his machine to a dead stop, and the other machine sideswiped his car, causing damage to both machines.

FIREMEN SETTLE PINOCHLE TITLE

Members of the paid and volunteer company at No. 2 engine house on Park avenue, have settled the pinochle supremacy, after waging a bitter battle over the old pine table.

The Blue Ribbon Sextet, composed of Roy Samuels, captain; Carl Reebie, Martin Mills, Frank Zimmerman, Russ Urmon and Al Turner, took the All Stars into camp in the final match Saturday evening. As a result, the All Stars, composed of Frank Streib, captain; Clyde Burry, Walter McConnell, Ed. Garvin, Millard Mills and Tim Mitchell, will serve the Blue Ribbon boys with a chicken dinner in the near future.

In order to see that the match was conducted on a fair and business-like basis, Andy Perry of Hose Company No. 1, an expert, was imported as referee and scorer. The match was for the best out of 21 games.

The name America was first applied to Central Brazil. Mercator, a geographer, first applied it to the whole known western world in 1541.

Titans Face Grovers In Final Game

Three Grovers And Two Titans Play Last Contest Tuesday

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Mar. 6.—Westminster college ends the 1933 basketball season on the home floor Tuesday night when the Grove City college five will be met in a return contest. The Grovers won the first game in a game that went two extra periods at Grove City.

The Titans, returned but late Saturday from a hard four-game trip through the east, will not be in the best of shape for the contest, but traditional rivalry will make it the outstanding home contest of the year.

Three Grove City stars and two Westminster players will be in their last game Tuesday night. Fegey, Stavnitsky, and Koma are the Grovers who end their court careers, and Siljander and Newton are the Titan men who play their last college game.

Upon the outcome of this contest rests the second-place or runner-up standing of the Grovers or the Titans in Tri-State Conference competition. A victory for Coach John Lawther's men would give the Titans the runner-up post, while a victory for the Grovers would practically give the Thorn machine the second-place rating.

Lawther will use Newton and Leyshook at forward, Douglas at center, and Hunsicker and Wilhelm at guard. Bob Thorn's lineup will probably include Deems and Fegey at forward, Solch at center, and Laycock and Stavnitsky at guard.

Ruth Will Not Accept $50,000

Babe Ruth Thinks That $50,000 Is Too Measly A Sum To Ask A Man To Play For

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Mar. 6.—Baseball, always an opportunist when its money is menaced, declared renewed war on all remaining holdouts today as institutions trembled and the finances of a nation became suddenly stagnant and inert. Individually the owners were out with statements this morning warning die-hard fans they expect no compromise. But later in the week this promises to be a collective gesture, with a tentative program already considered by which a concerted drive will be made to force many of the holdouts back in line by Friday.

Colonel Jacob Ruppert, who is willing to owe Babe Ruth as high as $50,000, was out today with a statement that the young man can't miss signing at this figure now. However, Ruth vouchsafed the announcement overnight from St. Petersburg, Fla., that he still cannot bring himself to accept $50,000 for playing baseball. If he waits long enough it occurs to me to wonder whether he'll be able to get $50,000.

Cangey Stops Ferro In Spectacular Bout

Otto Loses to Clemons; Midway on Floor at Last Bell

Fight fans witnessed an old-time, knockdown, drag 'em out pugilistic show here June 17, 1929. The show was featured by the K. O. Paris Kid Cangey handed Ferro. Having proved too tough for Tony Herrera to put away few fans liked Paris chances but he came from a hard to knockout Ferro.

Each bout was spectacular. Before Cangey knocked Ferro gooty, there were six knockdowns. In the semi-final bout there were five knockdowns and in another of the five bouts one of the battlers was cold on the floor when the sixth round ended.

After he had hooked his left to the chin twice in the first Cangey was hit with one of Ferro's short rights and he went down right. He got up only to be knocked down for another count of nine. He crawled to his feet, crept in close and fought Ferro at close quarters until the opening round ended.

Floored Again

Paris rushed at Ferro in the second and after shifting to southpaw turned back to left hand extended. Ferro used his nasty short right again and Cangey was floored for a count of nine. He arose and slowed down Ferro with a right and left to chin.

When the third started Cangey was on the lower side of the fight ledger. He was dizzy from the blows and was dropped for another count of nine. He crawled to his feet, turned southpaw shot a couple of good punches and shifted back to the orthodox stance. At the bell he was dazed and walked toward a neutral corner. Referee Chip called to him. He snapped out of it and laughed.

Ferro Down

Things were different in the seventh as the Seventhward knockout artist apparently was as fresh as a daisy. He sidestepped as Ferro rushed and Frankie plunged into the ropes. Cangey caught Ferro on the head with a stiff right. Ferro retaliated with a right to the head. Cangey quickly stepped in, shot a terrific right to Ferro's temple. Frankie grasped his head then fell like a log. He got up and another right floored him again. He was cold.

The bell rang for the end of the round and Al Lippe and Tom Bannon dragged Ferro to his corner where they applied restoratives. Just before the bell he came too and at the bell leaped to his feet, kicked the chair through the ropes and stood ready, guard up, eyes eager. Ferro started a right but Cangey beat him to the punch and his right knocked Ferro as cold as a frigid.

Baseball Men Meet Tonight

Efforts Will Be Made To Form League Of Twelve Teams

BILL ANDREWS TO HEAR CIRCUIT

Representatives of baseball teams will convene tonight at the Sports Goods store and probabilities are that when the session has been concluded there will be either a 12 team or eight club league. The session will start at 7:30 p. m.

Sometime ago representatives met here and nine teams were represented. Each of them expressed a desire to take out a franchise.

It was felt that the league should either be a two loop affair in with six teams in each loop or an eight team single loop.

Representatives at that meeting were from teams in last season's Lawrence County league and the Twilight league.

Although the name of the proposed league has not yet been definitely decided upon it may be called the Lawrence County Twilight league.

William Andrews, who was named president will preside at the meeting. Alec Samuels was named vice president and Eddie Connery, secretary.

Next Friday night the Mt. Jackson Indies will play the fast M. E. team of Mineral Ridge, O., at the Mt. Jackson floor. The manager of the East Brook Athletics is asked to get in touch with H. L. St. Clair, Mahoningtown R. D. 8, for a game.

Sunday Sports Bill Showdown Due This Week

Senate And House Reassemble Today To Face Controversial Measures

McCLURE BILL TO DRAW SPOTLIGHT

Expect Close Vote In Senate On Schwartz Bill Legalizing Sunday Sports

By WILLIAM J. KELLY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Mar. 6.—Reassembled for the tenth week of its session, Pennsylvania's General Assembly today looked for a prompt showdown on the outstanding piece of controversial legislation appearing on the calendar—the Schwartz Sunday sports bill.

That and the McClure constitutional convention bill are on second reading in the Senate tonight. Favorable action makes it possible to consider both on final passage tomorrow. The emergency banking bill is on final reading in the upper branch tonight, too, and while it is more vital than the others, it lacks the interest of controversy.

Expect Close Vote

Liberals intent upon wiping out a portion of the ancient blue law represent the larger municipalities of the commonwealth. They have appealed to rural legislators without a great deal of success and consequently a close, hard fight is anticipated. Supporters of the Schwartz bill, it has been learned, are counting only upon 26 votes, a bare majority of the Senate. It is considered possible the vote may be swelled to 27 to 28 in favor of passage, but not beyond that.

While senators toy with the subject of legalizing Sunday sports in the afternoon under a license system, the House faces a similar but more liberal measure. The Steedle bill, providing for sports and numerous other amusements on the Sabbath, is scheduled for second reading.

Convention Bill

The McClure bill, although secondary in interest at the moment, likewise is drawing its share of the spotlight, principally because it sets up a constitutional convention to act on the proposed repeal of the 18th amendment.

The measure provides for a convention of 51 delegates segregated into three classes, "wet," "dry" and "non-committal." One delegate would be named from each of the 34 congressional districts and 17 at-large.

Delay in the drafting of legislation to regulate the manufacture and sale of liquor in the event of repeal of the 18th amendment keeps the Conner-Sowers bill, state dry law repealer, in the seclusion of the Senate law and order committee. The repealer has passed the House.

Need Relief Action

While the two branches were ready to sweep into the work at hand, legislative leaders were giving considerable thought to relief of the unemployed and destitute. Virtual exhaustion of relief funds and widespread pleas of jobless for immediate attention raised a hope for early action.

Sensors and representatives met heavy calendars upon their return. Approximately a score of measures will receive second reading in the upper branch tonight. The House must consider six on final passage and 28 on second reading.

The Sterling committee, named in 1929 and reappointed in 1931, has completed its study of state governmental operations. Drafting of the document will consume the entire week, making its submission to the legislature impossible before next week. Simultaneous introduction of legislation to carry out its recommendations is expected.

Widow Is Allowed Exemption Claim

Opinion In Case Of Man Who Was Killed By Tree Falling
On Automobile

In an opinion handed down by Judge R. L. Hildebrand at court this morning, Mrs. Alex Costika, widow of Alex Costika, who was killed by a tree falling on his automobile while he was driving down North Jefferson street hill, was allowed a widow's exemption of $500 from decedent's estate.

The claim was contested on the grounds that Mrs. Costika was living in the old country and had been there for many years before her husband's death. It was shown, however, that she had taken steps to come to this country and join her husband, and that there were no differences between the couple. The estate is said to amount to about $1000.

Father Donatelli's Body Lies In State

Thousands Of People Pay
Last Respects To Former
Assistant At St. Vitus

Thousands of members of St. Vitus parish and of this city and the surrounding districts have been and are constantly paying their respect to the memory of Rev. Fr. Anthony Donatelli, assistant pastor of St. Vitus parish, as his body lies in state in St. Vitus church.

Ceremonies attendant to the last rites of the Catholic church started Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock when his body, which had been resting in state in the assembly hall of St. Vitus church, was borne in solemn procession into the church and placed in state before the sanctuary where it will remain until final services are held Tuesday morning, beginning at 9:30 o'clock.

The procession was witnessed by some five or six thousand people. The procession consisted of the cross bearer, altar boys and the following priests: Rev. Fr. Joseph Doerr, Rev. Fr. John Sabianash, Rev. Fr. Leo S. Watterson, Rev. Fr. Francis Stifter, Rev. Fr. Ambrose Kapitan, Rev. Fr. A. P. Scholz, Rev. Fr. Vincent Galliano, Rev. Fr. Nunzio Pirulli, Rev. Fr. Vincent Marinaro, Rev. Fr. V. V. Stanciewski and Rev. Fr. N. DeMita.

At this point in the procession came the body borne by members of the church committee, John Mas-trangelo, Guy Greco, Guy Francanza, Marshallino Bullano, Palmirino De Rosa and John Parchetti.

Then came the Knights of St. Vitus, the Holy Name society, ladies auxiliary of the Knights of St. Vitus, L. C. B. A., Our Lady of Sor-rodality and the general public. Rev. Fr. N. DeMita, the pastor, was in charge and after the blessing of the body Rev. Fr. Vincent Galliano pronounced an eulogy.

This morning at 9:30 o'clock solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. N. DeMita, pastor of St. Vitus. This service was attended by 1700 children from all parts of the city, who had been excused from school for the service. They were from all grades to the high school. All were under 21 years of age. They were most reverent and after the mass Rev. Fr. DeMita delivered a sermon that brought tears to the eyes of all.

The Rt. Rev. John C. Boyle, bishop of Pittsburgh, will be present at the service to be conducted Tuesday morning and will pronounce the blessing after the mass.

Promptly at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday morning the office of the dead will be started and will be followed by solemn requiem mass at 10 o'clock. A hundred priests from this city and surrounding districts will be present.

Rev. Fr. M. J. Vitale of St. Lucy's church will be the celebrant, Rev. Fr. Nicholas Fusco of New Kensington, the deacon, Rev. Fr. Muscoloni of Church of the Immaculate Conception, Bloomfield, Pittsburgh, the sub-deacon and Rev. Fr. Vincent Galliano, master of ceremonies.

As all those who wish to attend this cannot be accommodated at the final mass, another solemn high mass for the repose of the soul of Rev. Fr. Donatelli a spiritual bouquet offered by the Mother of Sor-rodality, will be held at 7:30 a. m. with Rev. Fr. N. DeMita as celebrant.

Interment will be made in St. Vitus cemetery in the lot of Rev. Fr. N. DeMita, who considered him as a companion and brother, and who is suffering greatly from the shock of his death.

Military guard is being maintained day and night at the body by the Knights of St. Vitus and Holy Name society. The guards stand at attention all the time and are relieved each hour.

NO MORE FLATS

J. A. Boak, rural carrier for the Mahoningtown postoffice, has not had a repeat-performance of the flat tire incident of last week, and he should be "knocking on wood." Last week the front and rear tires picked up three nails along the rural route; exit air and enter some hard labor on the part of Carrier Boak.

ARRESTS MAY HALT FALSE ALARM WAVE

With five out of the six alarms, turned in so far this month proving false, a curb on this practice is expected to result from the arrest of two of the perpetrators.

One man was taken into custody by police and Assistant Fire Chief Thomas early Sunday morning, after he had turned in two false alarms in succession from box 58, and was on his way back to turn in the third alarm.

The other, a boy residing on the north hill, had turned in an alarm by telephone, giving a street address on Englewood avenue, which turned out to be a vacant lot.

Sunday evening, another false alarm was turned in from box 58 at 8:10.

ROAMING

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

Sure signs of spring... Sunday afternoon crowds out on the residential streets soaking in the sunshine... every highway crowded with family buses and the cars full of fresh air seekers... a couple of robins on Highland avenue digging industriously for worms... wonder why they didn't go south this year... them and the wild geese that wintered at Moravia... strawberries making their appearance in the markets... and stirring visions of strawberry shortcake... willows beginning to break their buds along some of the creeks.

And the peach crop isn't spoiled as yet which is anticipating the annual statement that the frost ruined everything. Sam Huey, who knows fruit like you know a telephone directory, says that the open weather hasn't hurt the peaches, yet, but this weather isn't the best thing in the world for them.

Seems like the Poet Laureate of Slippery Rock is trying to crash this column regularly. Today he philosophizes a bit on this and that and you might just as well read it.

There never was a gloomy day, there never was a leaden sky, but what the sun came booming out, and graying clouds went scooting by, there never was a stormy night but sunshine followed in the morn, and there are bright days coming soon, that's just as sure as you're born.

One of the dry wits around the office suggested that the bank holiday would probably take the bounce out of a lot of rubber checks.

The bank holiday might be compared to the rest period in an athletic contest. It provides a breathing spell in which the contestants are revived, sponged off, get a lung full of fresh air and come back into the fray refreshed and ready to go again.

Can't get the Slippery Rock off the mind this week. Soon as the sunshine begins filtering through there's an urge to get out along the creek, to poke around under logs and see what's underneath. There's a mysterious promise of spring in the forest, and a springy feel to the earth. Maybe it's the call of the wild, or a throwback to ancestry that lived out under the stars. Whatever it is, the Slippery Rock valley is the answer.

THUMBPRINTS

Officer Bill Tyrell is one of the veterans of the glass industry... he worked in it when a blow was laid with a pair of lungs strong enough to inflate a balloon... Clarence A. Patterson once was something of a carpenter... but that's a long time ago... and Roy Jamison was a farm lad over in Armstrong county... and Ted Marlin directed a band in a Detroit hot spot for a couple of winters.

Rotarians Meet To Transact Business

Induct Penny Superintendent
Into Membership; Committees Make Reports

A new member, Superintendent G. S. West of the Pennsylvania railroad, was welcomed by the New Castle Rotary club today when it met at The Castleton for a regular monthly business session. President W. J. Caldwell presided, assisted by J. F. Rentz and John Offutt, heads of Rotary committee divisions.

E. E. Seavy, chairman of the club's membership committee, and DeLace Cole, head of the knackers committee, led the usual monthly summaries of the committee chairmen. Seavy reminded the Rotarians that the end of a spirited attendance contest is in sight. Within three weeks one of four club teams, that one making the poorest showing, will learn that it must present a Rotary program all of its own.

Rotary socials, crippled children's work, boys' work and the "On to Buffalo" committee activities which B. H. Kannenberg is directing, were reported to the club for which the Lawrence county council on the cause and Cure of war is to give in the Y. W. C. A. when Dr. John Coleman, Geneva College man, will speak.

Guests today included President Robert F. Galbreath of Westminster College, the Rev. Ralph Neale, New Wilmington, and Rotarians Thomas Crompter and Fred Spang, both of Butler. James Farrell was another out-of-town guest.

Rotarian West was officially inducted by H. B. Richards, chairman of the Rotary education committee. Mr. West made a fitting response.

Hopefulness Is The Keynote Today

There is a new mood of hopefulness in the country—a new spirit of co-operation—a willingness to put aside personal gain in order to back up the new Administration in its reconstruction program.

During this emergency every courtesy, every service extended to you during normal times will be yours.

Second Holdup At Hood Confectionery Store Sunday Night

Confectionery store of W. H. Hood, 1231 East Washington street, was the scene Sunday night of the second holdup in a week by a lone masked gunman.

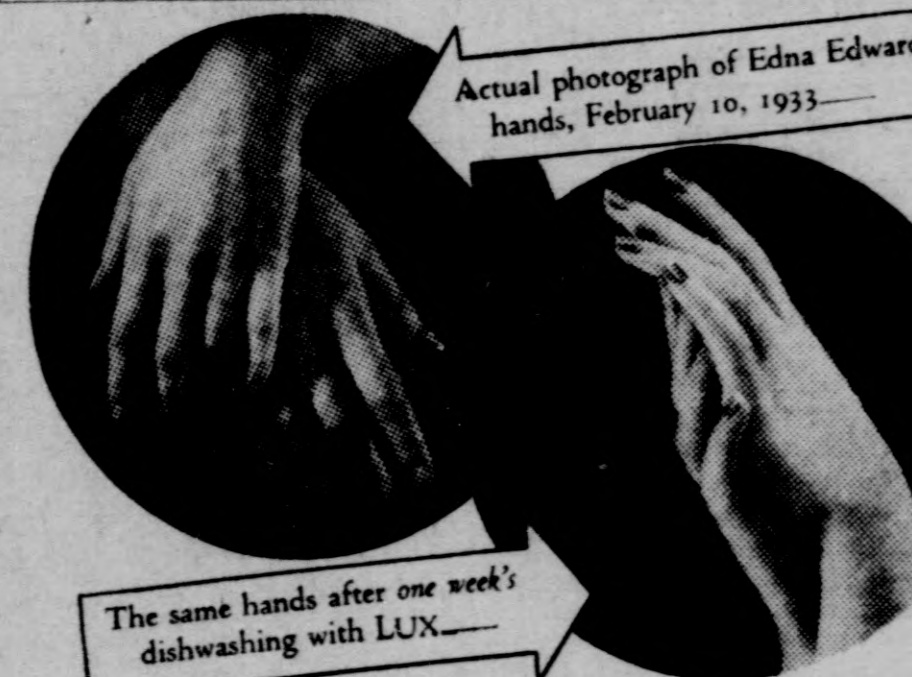

Last night shortly before 10 o'clock Mr. Hood was in his place of business when a man with a red handkerchief over his face, a green stocking cap on his head and a gun in his hand entered and demanded his money.

Mr. Hood gave him between $2.50 and $3.50, which was only a part of his funds. After getting the money, the man, who was wearing a shabby brown overcoat, ran across the street and between some houses on the opposite side of the street.

A little later a two-door sedan was seen as it came from Beckford street onto East Washington street. There were three men in the machine. It was thought possible they might have been connected with the affair.

Police were called and investigated. This is the second time in a few days that this occurred, the masked gunman securing $35 on the first visit.
